

Kyle King (Prisoner Rights Activist & Peer Navigator, Prisoners AIDS Support Action Network)

Kyle King is currently a Peer Health Navigator with PASAN and sits on several committees relating to various prison and convict activism initiatives. He has spent 8 of the last 10 years incarcerated. Having been the BIFFA (Black Inmates Friends Family Association) Chair and Grievance Clerk while at Millhaven, he has an in-depth grasp of the system. Seeing the holes and having pointed them out on numerous occasions has made him a target. Kyle advocated for programming and better health care resources within both provincial and federal institutions, and was segregated for allegations of inciting riots due to his institutional pro-inmate activism. His focus has not solely been on health and programming, but also on inmate and staff relations - working to bridge the gap where the most significant breakdowns in communication happen.
